GLADIOLI

Grown By

JOHN J. PROUTY

Baldwinsville, N. Y.

I Was Awarded Every
First Premium in the Professional Class
At the New York State Fair in 1917, 1918 and 1919.

Eleven Firsts and One Second out of Twelve Entries in 1920.

You May Buy Cheaper Bulbs
But You Cannot Buy Better

All but one of the first prizes offered at the 1920 New York State Fair were awarded to me and I received one second prize. In 1917, '18 and '19 I was awarded first on every entry.

Last November (1920) I moved to the Indian Spring Farm, one mile west of Baldwinsville on the river road, where a large part of my bulbs will be grown this year. This farm is on the new State cement road and the most direct automobile route from Syracuse and points east, to Rochester and the west. Visitors will be welcome at all times. Last fall I planted on this farm 5,000 Peony roots besides thousands of Iris, Tulips and other bulbs.

All the stock I could possibly spare of Gold, Carmen Sylva, Jenny Lind, and a few other specials were disposed of at the State Fair last fall. I hope to have a larger stock this year if the season is favorable.

Every bulb sent out is believed to be true to name. I have never had but three complaints that some bulbs were misnamed. In one of these instances, my customer received a 15-cent bulb in place of the 5-cent bulb she ordered. I will gladly replace free, any bulbs not true to name.

Bulbs may be planted at any time after danger of frost is past in the spring, and as late as July 1 for early sorts. I planted several hundred bulbs on July 5 last year and all bloomed. Plant bulbs 4 to 6 inches deep, depending on soil—6 inches in light soils, 4 inches in heavy soils. Dig bulbs before freezing weather; cut off tops close to bulb and dry for several days, then store in a cool, dry cellar. A well fertilized garden soil will grow Gladioli to perfection if due care and attention is given to cultivation and seeing to it that they have water frequently in dry weather.

Bulbs sent out are $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches or more in diameter.

Prices are based absolutely on quality and cost of growing, etc. It matters not what other growers may ask, you cannot obtain a better quality of bulbs than I am offering. My success at the State Fair during the past four years against the strongest competition is a sufficient guarantee of this statement. All bulbs are sent prepaid at prices named, and shipment will begin about April 1st.

If you wish any of the bulbs I am offering, let me urge you to
